PRICE, 3 CENTS

Oklahoma Territory.

Provisions By Which It is Thrown Open to Settlers.

PRICE PAID FOR THE LAND.

Nearly Two Million Dollars Appropriated To Relieve the Claim of the Seminoles. Other Dispatches of Interest from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The provisions of the Indian appropriation bill under which part of the Oklahoma country is to be thrown open to settlement are as follows: An appropriation of $1,913,942 is made to the Seminole nation for all right and title to 2,007,415 acres of land ceded to the Indians in the treaty of June 14, 1866. Of this money, $1,500,000 is to remain in the treasury drawing 3 per cent interest from July 1, 1889, payable semi-annually to the treasurer of the nation; and the balance is subject to call by legislative enactment of the nation.

The lands, except the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections of each township, which are to be reserved for public schools, are to be disposed of to actual settlers under the homestead law, provided that any person who, having attempted to, but for any cause failed to secure a title in fee to a homestead under existing law, who made entry under what is known as the commuted provision of the homestead law, shall be qualified to make a homestead entry upon said lands; and, moreover, further, that the rights of honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors in the late civil war as defined and described in sections 230 and 230 of the revised statutes shall not be abridged; and provided further, that each entry shall be in square or as nearly as practicable, and no person permitted to enter more than one quarter section thereof, but until said lands are opened for settlement by proclamation of the president, no person shall be permitted to enter upon and occupy the same, and no person violating this provision shall ever be permitted to enter any of said lands or acquire any right thereto.

The secretary of the interior may, after aid and compensation had been made, permit entry of said lands for townsites under Sections 2357 and 2358 of the revised statutes, so that such entry shall embrace more than one-half section of land.

All of these provisions are to apply to the disposal of the lands acquired from the Muscogee or Creek Indians January 19, 1889. The president is also authorized to appoint commissioners to negotiate with the Cherokee and others owning lands west of the 96th degree of longitude of Indian Territory and to open these lands by proclamation under certain conditions.

The president is authorized to create one or two land districts embracing the land opened to establish land offices.

The Oklahoma proclamation still hangs, but will probably be issued within a very few days. The matter is somewhat crowded aside by the rush of officers, and it is generally understood that something will be said about it at the next cabinet meeting.

Telegraphic instructions were sent late yesterday afternoon to the officer in command of troops in the Oklahoma country from the war department. Officers are ordered to establish the identity of all raiders and preserve their names. The law provides that any one trespassing on the land before it is opened for settlement, and held it from making entry of any of his land.

White House Callers.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—There was an entire absence of delegations at the White House. The callers were composed, for the most part, of operators and representatives who were not daunted by the disagreeable man that has been prevailing since early morning. Three Democratic senators called, namely: Regan, Cole and Gray. Senator Cole came with the new minister to Switzerland, Col. Washburn. Several other senators also saw the president. Mr. Harper, who was vice consul general at Paris under Republican administration; Senators Blair, Culion, Spooner, Plaza, Teller, Plum, Hiawock and Representative Butterworth, with his daughter and the daughter of Attorney General Miller, were among those that called.

Senate to Adjourn Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The indications now are that when there is some unexpected and unnecessary delay the senate will adjourn the next week. Members of the senate, in the recent session yesterday, said that they were anxious to get away from the city, and expected the hope that business would be expedited as much as possible so as to permit adjournment the latter part of next week. Senator Allison said that he thought the senate would get away next week. President Harrison stated to visitors recently that he was anxious to give the senate an opportunity to adjourn and that he expected an adjournment next week.

The President's Mail.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Since the 4th of March the president's mail has been very heavy, averaging from six to seven hundred letters, and on some days running as high as a thousand letters. President Cleveland's letters rarely exceed three hundred a day. Many of the communications to President Harrison are intended for other persons, several of whom are utterly unknown to him, the correspondents probably thinking that letters addressed to the care of the president will undoubtedly reach their destinations.

Mr. Harrison Still Ill.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Mrs. Harrison is better to-day, although a troublesome cough still confines her to her room. She is returned to all visitors. Among those who were received and entertained by Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKey was Mrs. Amalie E. Chandler.

The President's First Pardon.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Harrison's first exercise of the pardoning power was made yesterday when he commuted the sentence of Albert Green, a colored man who was sentenced to be hanged in this city on April 5, to imprisonment for life.

Washington Notes.

Commander Charles A. Schetky has been placed on the retired list.

The comptroller of the currency has authorized the Western National bank of Missouri, Mount, to begin business with a capital of $75,000.

On April 1 the following fourth-class postmasters will be raised to the presidential class: Jeremy P. Wilmington, N. J.; Hillsboro Bridge, N. H.; Alta, Iowa; Hinsdale, Ill.; West Haven, Conn.

The fortification board has adjourned to meet April 12. Almost the entire session just ended was consumed in the consideration of inventions and questions relating to material for increases of gun construction.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

A Passenger Train Robbed by Masked Men in Arizona Territory.

HOOSIER, A. T., March 22.—An eastbound passenger train on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad was robbed last night at Canon Diablo by four masked men. The Wells, Fargo express car was rifled. It is not known what amount was taken. The passengers were not molested. A number of shots were fired by the robbers, but no one was injured. Seoir Larson, of this place, with a posse has gone in pursuit.

A later report says that one of the bandits covered the engineer and fireman with revolver. The other three went through the coaches, and secured about $800 from the passengers. Express Messenger Knickerbocker, for the Wells, Fargo company, had made his exchange with the station agent at the last station passed, and consequently when the thieves broke into his car they found but $300. The traiiners and passengers were taken completely by surprise, and offered no resistance. When they jumped from the train they fired several shots, one of which went through the express car, that being the only damage done.

They Selected an Isolated Spot.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Superintendent Powell, of the Wells, Fargo Express company, says that he has no information as to the amount of treasure secured by the train robbers at Holbrook, Ariz., last night. The locality selected by the robbers for their work is very sparsely settled, and it will be difficult to get trace of them.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

The Fate of One Man at a Dynamite Factory, Another Dying Soon.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—A sound like the combined roar of hundreds of cannon, by the accusation of a huge black cloud of smoke to a towering height, startled the inhabitants of Lakewood, N. J., and those of other adjacent villages, at 1 p. m. yesterday.

It was conjectured that an explosion had occurred in the works of the United States Dynamite company, eight miles distant. This was the case. The explosion had occurred in the mixing room. Thomas Haggerty and William Nicholas, both of Manchester, the only occupants of the room, were instantly killed. Nicholas was blown to atoms and Haggerty died in less than an hour. The shock was perceptible in all the towns and villages within fifteen or twenty miles.

A Child Fell From a Train.

By THOMAS OUL, March 22.—Charles Schreider, wife and eight children, en route to Brockport, N. Y., from Iowa, were passengers on a Michigan Central train last night. One of the children, a little girl six years of age, fell from the train about a mile west of Altecriff and was not missed until near Welland. Section men found her in a ditch. There was a bad cut and bruise on the forehead, but she was otherwise un-injured. It is supposed the child attempted to find her mother, who had gone to another part of the train, and while doing so stepped off.

The Edison Syndicate Gets Under.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The World says:

The great scheme of Henry Villard, whereby all the Edison electric companies were to be consolidated into one gigantic concern, is reported to have collapsed. Various reasons are given for the failure of the scheme, but probably the true explanation is that the recent decision in Canada, annulling the Edison incandescent lamp patent, has led the advisers of the German members of the proposed syndicate to the conclusion that the Edison patents are not worth the money that is being asked for them.

The Hanover Couple.

Mr. WALKER, Wm., March 22.—J. Matt. Abbey, Jr., of Chicago, and his bride, the daughter of Chief Justice Fuller, are still in this city and will remain for a few days longer, when they will go to Chicago and then probably to Washington. They received the blessing of Chief Justice Fuller yesterday by telegraph, and besides assuring them of forgiveness, the message contained an invitation to the young couple to visit the bride's family.

A Youth Kills His Father.

GAZETTE, Tex., March 22.—John Giddens was shot and killed yesterday by his son, McGauley Giddens, a boy of seventeen. The boy had frequently asked his father for a pistol, but had been refused. He secured possession of a weapon, and while playing with it, was discovered by Mr. Giddens, who asked for an explanation, and this angered the boy that he turned the weapon on his father, shooting him through the breast.

Cared for by a Dyscuse.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 22.—Physicians and accident men in this city are interested in a peculiar case which has just developed in this city. A week ago Charles Nier ran a needle into his foot. Surgeons sought in vain for it. Yesterday afternoon Nier was taken to the plant of the Suburban Electric railway and his foot held near one of the dynamos, and in fifteen minutes the needle was drawn out.

A Literary Field.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 22.—A remarkable literary "field" has been made here by a book collector, who was convicted of forging pension checks, has been sentenced by Judge Benedict in the United States circuit court to six years in the Erie penitentiary.

Young Sigel Gets Six Years.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Robert Sigel, the pension office clerk, who was convicted of forging pension checks, has been sentenced by Judge Benedict in the United States circuit court to six years in the Erie penitentiary.

The President's First Pardon.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—President Harrison's first exercise of the pardoning power was made yesterday when he commuted the sentence of Albert Green, a colored man

Parnell's Lucky Find

Piggott's Diary in Possession of One of His Lawyers.

A VALUABLE DOCUMENT.

It Will Be Used to Menace the Government For the Part They Took in the Times Case—Critical Situation of the House of Parliament—Other Foreign Dispatches.

LONDON, March 22.—The Star says that Mr. Lewis, Mr. Parnell's solicitor, has obtained possession of the diary of the late forger and Times' witness, Richard Piggott, and that it "contains much matter of ill-omen" to the equivocators of the treasury bench. To use the contents of the forger's diary will put well be seen later, as doubt, the Parnellites will make the most of it, and its use as a standing menace to the government will be very valuable to the opposition.

The daily bickering through which the ministers have to pass on the subject of the assistance, which no one doubts they gave to the Times in working up its case for the commission, is all preparatory to the grand assault.

Interest just now centers in the questions asked in the house of commons of the government, regarding the suspension of Capt. Seagrave of Mitchelstown fame. It seems that this valiant slaughter of defenceless peasants was ashore from the British army at the Cape of Good Hope in 1857. The Parnellites have only recently got hold of this knowledge, and have forced the government to make inquiries into the captain's record, with the result of establishing the truth of the charge against him.

It will be rather embarrassing for the government to explain the appointment of Seagrave as an officer of the Irish constabulary with such a record. It is with great difficulty that questions are formulated so as to avoid damaging admissions from the government, as the ministers, whose wits have been sharpened by frequent encounter, are ready to lay hold on the slightest technical flaw and use it to their advantage.

Not All Lovely.

LONDON, March 22.—Mabel Lowe, the young Gailey actress who disappeared a few days ago and was supposed to have eloped with a prominent young nobleman, was found yesterday by detectives in Dublin. She was alone and declares that she ran away on account of a tilt which she had with her mother. She will return to London in charge of a detective who will restore her to her parents.

Our Beautiful Women.

ROME, March 22.—Mrs. Pierle, of New York, who competed in a beauty contest at Nice, has been awarded the first prize. She has returned the trophy to be used for the benefit of the charity in the interest of which the show was organized. A number of actress, who were among the competitors, are ready to lay hold on the slightest technical flaw and use it to their advantage.

The Fairies Had Everything Their Way.

DUBLIN, March 22.—A number of evictions took place at Townnally, Donegal. A large crowd of sympathizers with the tenants were present, but they were overawed by the presence of strong forces of police and military, and made no attempt to interfere.

Fifty 300 police and soldiers attended the evictions.

Foreign Notes.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—A duel occurred Wednesday night in a suburban sporting resort. Two Japanese girls became involved in a dispute and attacked each other with short Japanese swords, with no attempt by the spectators to interfere. Both were soon dripping with blood from numerous cuts. The affair would certainly have ended in the death of one, if not both, had not a policeman entered the place.

Engineers Major Not Guilty.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—After four hours deliberation the jury in the case of Engineer Major, charged with causing the Mud Run disaster, reached a verdict of not guilty. The acquittal of Engineer Major ends the Mud Run disaster trial, the three persons accused having all been acquitted, and the record standing that no body was to blame for the loss of sixty-one lives.

The Bee characterizes the last hours of the session as the most shameless on legislative record. The underground restaurant, with its private rooms, was made the scene of outrageous debauchery, the upper compartments completely drowning the proceedings in the legislative chambers.

Girls Fight a Duel With Swords.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—A duel occurred Wednesday night in a suburban sporting resort. Two Japanese girls became involved in a dispute and attacked each other with short Japanese swords, with no attempt by the spectators to interfere. Both were soon dripping with blood from numerous cuts. The affair would certainly have ended in the death of one, if not both, had not a policeman entered the place.

Mr. Newman spoke very earnestly in Payne's behalf, and when he had concluded the president is quoted as saying that under no circumstances would he appoint a New York man to the coveted office; the favored individual would come from the west.

Mr. Newman said he hoped the appointee would be a good, honest, competent man. The president responded with the assurance that he would be a good, honest, competent man. The office was next in importance to a cabinet position, and only a fit man would be appointed to run it.

The same delegation then waited on Secretary Wadsworth and presented the claim before slaughter of all cattle, hogs or sheep, the meat of which is intended to be sold as human food. The bill practically prevents the importation of meat slaughtered by the "Big Four," or other eastern packing houses.

Extra Work in the Postoffice Department.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The work of receiving and filling applications for post offices has grown so great in the past two weeks, that Postmaster General Wanamaker has issued an order directing clerks in the office of the first assistant postmaster general to report at 8:30 a. m., and remain until 6 p. m. each day, also detailing to duty in the first assistant postmaster general's office clerks from other bureaus, until the work is brought up to date. The work in the dead letter office is also behind and the clerks in that office are ordered to work from 8:30 to 6 p. m., until the work is brought to date.

Opposition to New.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The following notice appeared in an evening paper yesterday: "Persons opposed to the confirmation of J. C. Newill meet this evening at 7 o'clock at 1003 F street, N. W., for consultation." In response to this invitation John Q. Thompson, of the Washington Chronicle, and three sympathizers gathered together. No formal action was taken. From all indications their influence is to be believed.

The Fall River Strike Unchanged.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 22.—The strike situation is unchanged, except that the Granite, Richard Borden, Troy and McEachron's mills have shut down entirely. Others will close, and it seems likely that every mill in town will be closed by Saturday, and that 25,000 operatives will be idle.

Ex-Governor Blair's Recovery.

JACKSON, Mich., March 22.—Ex-Governor Blair's health was much improved yesterday, and the physicians pronounced him out of danger.

Opposition to New.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The following notice appeared in an evening paper yesterday: "Persons opposed to the confirmation of J. C. Newill meet this evening at 7 o'clock at 1003 F street, N. W., for consultation." In response to this invitation John Q. Thompson, of the Washington Chronicle, and three sympathizers gathered together. No formal action was taken. From all indications their influence is to be believed.

Fell From a Window.

WINTER, May 9.—A woman fell from a window, and was killed. She was a widow, and was married to a man who had been drinking heavily, and an hour before his body was found insisted on giving the poor wife his address.

STILL UNDECIDED.

Constitutionality of the New Police Law Argued at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22.—Argument on the unconstitutionality of the police board of control act began yesterday morning and closed in the evening, each side being limited to three hours. The argument attracted a large crowd of spectators, among them many of the best lawyers of the city, who were anxious to hear the points advanced. The case was taken under advisement and a decision will be reached in a few days.

Postmaster General Wanamaker has telegraphed his decision in the question which has arisen concerning the delivery of mail to the opposing superintendent of police. It directs the postmaster at this place to deliver mail addressed to either superintendent individually to the person addressed, but if it is addressed only to the superintendent of police, it must be held until the question which has given Indianapolis two police forces has been settled.

President Harrison says he has found that the best way to shake hands is to take hold first and let the other fellow get the grip on him.

Right Rev. F. D. Huntington, Episcopal Bishop of central New York, declares that the commercial and business tendencies of the age are destroying the spirituality of the churches.

Ninety years old Simon Cameron, gay as a lark, and with intellectual faculties in perfect trim, says the way to preserve youth is to associate with young people and keep going. It is really not so many years since this frisky old boy was the victim of a breach of promise suit.

March 17, 1790, Gen. George Washington ordered St. Patrick's day to be duly celebrated in his army. Part of the division orders was as follows: "The commanding officer desires that the celebration of the day should not pass by without a little rum issued to the troops."

The debate in the Canadian parliament on commercial union with the United States brought out some remarkable speeches. The question of political union was freely discussed. Mr. Charlton said that the idea of Anglo-Saxon unity was a magnificent dream, but he believed it was destined to be a reality, and that when it was it would best realize the hopes of humanity.

Women's Clubs.

The recent meeting in New York city of delegates from all the women's clubs in the Union was an interesting occasion to those concerned. The delegates came together on the invitation of Sorosis, the women's club of New York. Sorosis celebrated its twenty-first anniversary this March, and invited the others to participate in the festivity.

The New York club, founded twenty-one years ago, was the first organization of the kind among women in America. There are now in the United States a little over 100 clubs of ladies. Forty of these sent delegates to the Sorosis anniversary. Steps have been taken to form a federation of such associations, with general officers.

The delegates were from every section of the Union, but principally from New England and the northwest. Massachusetts leads in the number of its clubs. Michigan and Colorado have a goodly number also. So has Indiana, the state which added processions of ladies to the varied entertainments of the last political campaign. And one delegate was present from Fargo, in far off Dakota.

Most of the women who are known in literature and the professions belong to some of these feminist societies. The social idea is of course a central one. But to this most of the clubs add benevolent work and studies for self culture.

The Next President.

The question of who will be the next president is usually the most interesting room in the establishment. There are no proper conveniences for students or writers. With the best efforts of Mr. Spofford and his assistants there are not enough attendants to promptly accommodate visitors. The supply of foreign books is very inadequate, that of many of the large libraries in the country being superior. Copies of American books are required by law to be sent by publishers to the Congressional library. Appropriations of money must be made by Congress for the purchase of foreign books, and congress does not in this case err in the direction of extravagance. But American books and pamphlets are coming in by the dozen daily, adding to the already ruinously crowded burden of the alcoves.

Meantime congress has been for two years seriously discussing whether it will adopt the four million plan or the six million plan for the new library building.

Grant was the inevitable nominee of the Republican party in 1868 because of his war record; Hayes was nominated in 1876 because of his victory over William Allen in the memorable contest for the governorship of Ohio in 1875; Garfield had the prestige of the Republican leadership of the house of representatives and of his recent election to the senate from Ohio, and Harrison the strength of a popular majority overcome only by the previous gerrymandering of his state in the contest for his own succession to the senate in 1886.

Tilden was nominated on the strength of his previous victory in New York; Hancock for his record at Gettysburg, and Cleveland because of the enormous majority by which he was elected governor of New York over Folger.

New York will elect her governor in November, 1891, one year before the next presidential election. While the unexpected is likely to happen in politics as in all other human affairs, it is yet fair to say that the man who is elected governor of New York in 1891 will stand a remarkably good chance of being nominated by his party for the presidency in 1892. This fact is well understood by the politicians of the Empire state, and every aspirant for the governorship looks in his day dreams beyond the executive mansion at Albany to the open portals of the White House at Washington.

The Nicaragua Canal.

The act of congress incorporating this enterprise promises to have an important bearing on the interests of the Three Americas. The association to which a name has thus been given is called the Maritime Canal company of Nicaragua. The company had already obtained all concessions from Nicaragua and Costa Rica. They only needed the United States to give them a legal status.

The bill which has passed congress makes the United States in no way peculiarly liable for expenses incurred by the company. This was expressly stipulated. The act of incorporation was granted on condition that work on the canal should be begun in good faith within three years after the passage of the bill.

The headquarters of the company will be New York city, and their charter calls for capital stock to the amount of $100,000,000, with the privilege of increasing it to twice that sum. The estimated cost of the work is something over sixty-six millions.

The Nicaragua canal, as projected, takes the route across the isthmus through Lake Nicaragua. Thus the waters of that lake can be utilized. The canal will begin on the Atlantic side at the mouth of the San Juan river, near Greytown, which is called by the natives San Juan del Norte. Thence the canal will take a general course up the San Juan river to Lake Nicaragua. It will cross the southern end of the lake from east to west. Thence a path will be cut from the lake to the Pacific ocean to the port of Fonseca.

The total length of the canal will be 181 miles. By the route proposed sixty-two miles of this distance must be cut through the land.

The chief difference in the construction of this and the Panama canal is that proposed to be an ocean level canal, while the Nicaragua work will employ locks and lifts.

The completion of the Nicaragua canal will open to northern enterprise a region of unparalleled richness both in mineral and agricultural products. The charter granted by congress provides that the directors of this interoceanic canal company shall be citizens of the United States or of Nicaragua. A majority of them must be citizens and residents of the United States. If the canal is brought to successful completion, its advantages to this country, both peace and war, can hardly be estimated.

The Congressional Library.

In the congressional library at Washington there are 600,000 books and 200,000 pamphlets. Many of them are packed in vaults and boxes, where they are practically inaccessible to the public. One branch of the library is the duplicate department. The librarian is permitted to exchange books of which he has no copy. Yet the duplicate space has been so outgrown that the books have had to be carried down stairs and packed away in a basement room. Tomes on tome have been piled upon them, till it is no longer possible to reach many of them. Persons wishing to exchange books can only deposit their volumes, get the librarian's check for value received, and keep it till the new library is finished. That will have accommodations for the duplicate department.

At present there is no news reading room in the establishment. There are no proper conveniences for students or writers. With the best efforts of Mr. Spofford and his assistants there are not enough attendants to promptly accommodate visitors. The supply of foreign books is very inadequate, that of many of the large libraries in the country being superior.

Copies of American books are required by law to be sent by publishers to the Congressional library. Appropriations of money must be made by Congress for the purchase of foreign books, and congress does not in this case err in the direction of extravagance. But American books and pamphlets are coming in by the dozen daily, adding to the already ruinously crowded burden of the alcoves.

Meantime congress has been for two years seriously discussing whether it will adopt the four million plan or the six million plan for the new library building.

The population of the Samoan Islands is not more than 37,000 all told. The natives are an erect, handsome brown race, with straight, black hair. The French commander who originally discovered the islands named the group Samoan Islands, from the still displayed by the people in handling their canoes and boats. The Samoans were long ago converted to Christianity but in case of volcanic eruptions which still recur at intervals they are rather inclined to lapse into the worship of their ancient earthquake god.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has imported an English locomotive engine for trial. It has driving wheels six and a half feet in diameter. It is built on the compound system, having two high pressure and one low pressure cylinder. The claim made for it is that it can be run with nearly 19 per cent less fuel than American engines can.

The Free School of Mechanical Trades was the monument the late Isiah Williamson, of Philadelphia, left of himself. A. J. Drexel is founding a similar institution for girls. These trade schools are becoming very numerous. They promise to revolutionize the old system of apprenticeship.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

DEVOTEES OF CERES MEET IN QUARTERLY CONVENTION

First Session of the Marion County Farmers' Institute for 1889 a Success.—A Large Attendance and an Interesting Program. The first session of the Marion County Farmers' Institute for the year opened at Ludwig's Hall, Cadiz, on Wednesday, at 9:30 o'clock. The opening was an auspicious one, and promised well for the interest of future conventions of the year. A good sized audience was present at which opened with music, followed by invocation by Rev. J. Whitworth, of the Caldonia M. E. Church. Geo. W. Ault delivered the address of welcome, in which he referred to the undesirable tendencies of many farmers to set the fraud, such as marketing dirty grain, wool, etc.; he strongly advised that of course you would not find such farmers in Marion but must look for them in other counties; and admonished the audience to the bad effects of such a course.

The response was made by W. H. Likins in an excellent address, in which he supplemented Mr. Ault in his precautionary advice, and closed with a Biblical allusion to "Keep thyself unspotted from the world."

Music was next on the program, which included an appropriate song, "Happy Farmer," by the Campbell quartet. Miss Sadie Myers next followed with a recitation of merit, in which she pleased the audience. Ed Stratman followed with a paper on "The Ambition of our Young Men." He showed himself thoroughly conversant with the text of his production, and handled it in such a manner as to receive much hearty applause. He thought the ambitions of young men should be encouraged; there was much reverse opinion to this, tending to dislodge rather than encourage; there were many adversities and attractive allurements, against which it needed much strength of encouragement to contend. The production was a compliment to the young man's abilities.

The Likins quartet followed with an appropriate rendering, after which ex-President Lawrence substituted J. G. Gompf, who was absent, with a lecture on "King Corn." Mr. Lawrence's efforts were in vain that corn was the king of cereals. He gave a classification of corn, and followed with instruction as to seedling; seed should be well dried; ground plowed in fall or early in spring, harrowed and manured. Hhould be made 3 feet 6 inches apart, with four grains to the hill, and rolled three or four days after being planted; constant tilling should be kept up; there was no necessity of tilling.

A. M. Smith, who was tardy when his place on the program was reached, now came in with his discussion—"The Relation of the Law-maker to His Constituents." The substance of Mr. Smith's paper was that the law-maker was the representative of the people, chosen to represent them in legislative bodies—their wishes and necessities were centered in him as their representative; he had no right to act contrary to their wishes, and when petitioned by his constituency it was his duty to listen in the interest of their expressed desires. The influence of monopolies was mentioned, and the necessity of closing men who would act as the representatives of the people was urged. The paper was an able production, and met with the approbation of the audience.

The Institute adjourned until 1:30 o'clock, at which time the

TELEGRAM SESSION.

Was called to order by President Klingel, and the exercises opened with music. The attendance was larger than during the forenoon, and the crowd was beyond the accommodation of the hall.

Miss Mary Marshall gave in an excellent manner a recitation—"Why He Wouldn't Sell the Farm," which was the subject of deserved applause. Following came some pretty music by the Campbell quartet. Then Miss Hattie Monnett gave an agreeable recitation.

Miller Purvis, of Morrow county, discussed "The Farmer's Poultry Yard." Mr. Purvis is a well-known fancier, and his remarks were of a practical and instructive nature. He spoke of the progress and development of fine poultry breeding; of the opposition and fealty with which it had met by those who popular phasology would turn cranks, until now it was an acknowledged leading industry. He deplored the general tendency of farmers to carelessness in the care and breeding of poultry; it could be made a pleasant and profitable department. He gave some instructions as to the care of fowls, to their homes, etc. He would suggest more attention to the raising of poultry by the farmer. All fanciers could not be farmers, but all farmers could be degree to fanciers.

Then came the discussion of quies, which was animated and of practical value. Among others was the one that "He born was king, why did it not receive more attention?" This was the opportunity for Mr. Lawrence to give his valuable experience in the raising of corn. He would not advise farmers to sell this product at the market; he had fed his corn, and thereby had made an actual clearance of eight cents on the bushel.

After some interesting discussions the exercises proceeded with music, followed by Dr. W. P. Winter, with a paper on "Physical and Mental Culture." The Doctor did him credit in the time allotted him.

The "Utility of Straw" was the subject of some brief remarks by Mr. Ault, during which he advised farmers not to dispose of their straw, but keep it on the farm, where a fertilizer it could bring them richer rewards than it could hope for in its disposition for cash.

An adjournment was here made until 7 o'clock.

THE EVENING SESSION.

Consisted of exercises of a literary character and music. The attendance at this time was so large that it was difficult to retain good order.

After music Carrie Geddis gave a recitation on "The Use of Tobacco," which of course was an abuse of the weed.

H. F. Thomas then gave a production on "Who is the Happy Man," which was followed by music, and a dialect recitation by W. O. Gist.—"An Evening at the Farm."

An essay on "Urban Tendencies" was read by Prof. Rank. He referred to the discontent of the farm boy, and his anxiety to get to the city, and his inclinations when there to run wild after its pleasures. A synopsis of Mr. Rank's production is not sufficient to give its good points, but it sounded in excellent advice, altogether characteristic of its author.

After music, Geo. E. Lawrence gave a recitation, and after more music by the Caldonia M. E. Church choir, the benediction by Rev. Whitworth closed a very interesting session of the Farmers' Institute.

OBITUARY.

BECK.—Ray Foster, only child of W. D. and M. E. Beck, died March 14th, at 8:30 p.m., of pneumonia, aged 10 months and 10 days.

Funeral services were held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Foster, five miles north of Marion, attended by Revs. Thomas and Neal, of Marion. The remains were brought to Marion and put on board the evening train for Tiffin, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beck, where they were accompanied by the near relatives, and where funeral services were held on the 16th by Revs. D. D. Bigger and R. B. Moor. The remains were laid in the Tiffin cemetery.

THE MORNING SESSION,

which opened with music, followed by invocation by Rev. J. Whitworth, of the Caldonia M. E. Church. Geo. W. Ault delivered the address of welcome, in which he referred to the undesirable tendencies of many farmers to set the fraud, such as marketing dirty grain, wool, etc.; he strongly advised that of course you would not find such farmers in Marion but must look for them in other counties; and admonished the audience to the bad effects of such a course.

The Likins quartet followed with an appropriate rendering, after which ex-President Lawrence substituted J. G. Gompf, who was absent, with a lecture on "King Corn."

Music was next on the program, which included an appropriate song, "Happy Farmer," by the Campbell quartet. Miss Sadie Myers next followed with a recitation of merit, in which she pleased the audience. Ed Stratman followed with a paper on "The Ambition of our Young Men." He showed himself thoroughly conversant with the text of his production, and handled it in such a manner as to receive much hearty applause. He thought the ambitions of young men should be encouraged; there was much reverse opinion to this, tending to dislodge rather than encourage; there were many adversities and attractive allurements, against which it needed much strength of encouragement to contend. The production was a compliment to the young man's abilities.

JUSTICE MATTHEWS DEAD

He Died This Morning Rather Unexpectedly. Aged 61 Years.
Sped to Death Struck.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22—Justice Stanley Matthews, of the United States Supreme Court, died at his home in this city this morning, aged sixty-four years. Justice Matthews had been ill for a considerable time, his condition at times growing cheerful and promising and then again assuming a serious aspect.

The Justice himself has been hopeful of recovery all along, and only last week denied his intention of withdrawing from the bench. Justice Matthews was a resident of Cincinnati at the time of his appointment to the Supreme Bench, and had served in that capacity for about eight years. Something over a year ago he was married the second time.

—Charley Campbell, of Caledonia, is the guest of P. F. Foreman, on south Main St.

—C. E. Collier left this morning for Grotelville to go a few days on business.

—We expect two new business enterprises in Marion this spring yet. Look out for them.

—Mrs. G. Campbell is at LaFave for a few days the guest of friends and relatives at that place.

—Mrs. Will Dutt and little son are the guests of friends and relatives at Grafton for a few days.

—N. C. Mitchell, of Columbus, is the guest of James Hinds and family, on east South street.

—Mrs. G. C. Clement and son are visiting at the home of Mrs. Clements' parents in Lancaster, O.

—Mrs. H. Gartner, of New York City, is the guest of W. G. Winters and family on the boulevard.

—Miss Ada Wilson returned home this morning after spending a few days visiting friends at Prospect.

—Miss Ada Roberts is at Latimberville for a few days, the guest of friends and relatives at that place.

—Allen Heath has resigned his position as yard clerk with the C. and A. and will look up other business.

—W. C. Faith returned to his home at Mt. Blanchard this morning after a short visit with friends in this city.

—For sale, Eggs for hatching from prize-winning poultry. Gospel Hill Poultry Yards. 1020. PHILIP BAUER, Prop.

—Miss Gott requests us to state that owing to the limited room in the City Hall there will be no spectators allowed at the Sabbath service.

—Is not this a list of teachers to be proud of? Drs. Paul and Hermann, of Leipzig, Ernst Parabé, Eichberg, a pupil of Dr. Beriot and Campanini, a pupil of Bazzini. From these masters Prof. F. M. Davis received his musical education. Go to hear him.

—The most finished piano and violin rental ever given in this city or neighborhood was that rendered by Prof. F. M. Davis and his accomplished wife at the home of Attorney Henry Hoffman, Tuesday evening last—St. Ignace (Mich.), Republican. Prof. and Mrs. Davis will appear at Music Hall next Wednesday evening.

—A couple of employees of the C. and A. indulged in quite an exciting contest at the Junction last night. It appears that some difficulty arose as to who had the most authority about the place and they decided to fight it out to a finish. The fight lasted but a few minutes, after one round had been fought, one was so fatigued and blinded by the blows which he had received in the face as not to be able to continue the fight and it was decided in favor of the other contestant.

—Messrs. Rhoads & Griffith, of this city, have secured a patent on their device for a burglar alarm, and are displaying a model to admiring friends here. The claims for the new invention are durability and cheap-
